

Unit: 1

What is Human Values?

The subject which enables us to understand 'what is valuable for human happiness' is called Value education.

Basic human values refer to those values which are at the core of being human.

The values which are considered basic inherent values in humans include truth, honesty, loyalty, love, peace, etc. because they bring out the fundamental goodness of human beings and society at large.

★ Need for Value Education

Revision → M&T-2

Ch-7 :->

1. Differences b/w Self / Body:

Basis	Self	Body
Need	The need of self is Happiness (i.e. Respect) and it is continuous and Qualitative (is Feeling)	The need of body is Physical Facility (i.e. Food) and it is temporary and Quantitative (Required in Limited Quantity)
Fulfilled By Ensured	The need of self is fulfilled by Right understanding and Right feeling	The need of body is fulfilled by Physio-chemical things.